

99s: Women Pilots of Eastern New England

"You are not staying home doing nothing. You are saving the world."

Eastern New England Chapter is doing its part to maintain social distancing - we are canceling the Chapter meetings scheduled for April and May. We are hoping that we will be able to hold the Let's Fly Now event in June, but there is no way of knowing what the situation will be that far into the future.

The Katahdin Wings Chapter has not yet canceled the New England Section meeting due to take place in May - but they haven't sent out registration forms yet, either. Stay tuned for the go/no go decision when it is made.

So what are you doing while you are staying home?

Just because we have to stay home, or at least away from other people, doesn't mean we can't be doing kind things for others during this crisis.

One of our members canceled her cleaning lady, but is paying her anyway. Another member is using sewing material scraps to make masks for her local hospital. Another has donated the money she would have spent on renting a plane to a local food pantry. Others are still flying and posting beautiful pictures on social media.

Let's share our stories, as a way to stay connected during this difficult time. Reply to this e-mail or contact me at jannclark99@yahoo.com, and I will share your stories through this newsletter.

Jann Clark
Flylines Editor