Holiday Celebration Planning

In-Person Gathering?

Let us know your thoughts ASAP!
Please respond to this e-mail.

Yeah, yeah, we know - it's not even Thanksgiving yet! But we need to plan ahead NOW if we are going to have an in-person Holiday Party.

Margot Cheel has found a great venue for an in-person party, if we decide to go that way. The Cohasset Lightkeepers House (cohassetlightkeepers.net) is available now for December 11, the date for whatever we decide to do. As a non-profit organization, we can get the venue for a reduced price of $50. We would make it a potluck event, bringing our own food, drinks, paper goods, etc. If we decide to do this, we can get the details organized later.

Jessie has set up Elfster as a fun way to exchange gifts again this year - see information below. Zoom will be available for those participating in Elfster who cannot attend the party.

Here is what we need to know from you as soon as possible:

1. Would you be able to attend the holiday party in person if we held it in Cohasset on December 11?

2. How many people will you be bringing? Spouses, significant others, aviation friends welcome!

Please let us know your availability by responding to this e-mail by Friday, November 12, so that we can book the venue.

You're Invited to Jessie's Gift Exchange

Hi, Everyone,

I'd love for you to join me in the gift-giving fun!

Gift Exchange Date

Saturday, December 11, 2021

RSVP

Please RSVP to let me know if you'll be participating.

What exactly is a gift exchange? It's an event where everyone participating is randomly assigned to one another, so that gifts can be exchanged anonymously. It's the easiest and most fun way to gift!

Hope you'll join us,
Jessie
