Candie Needs our Thoughts and Prayers

You may have heard by now that there was a tragic accident at the Falmouth Airpark yesterday. Our dear friend, Candie Oldham, and her husband, Rae Willis, were in that accident. Beth Young has just left the hospital with information below. I've hesitated to send anything out previous to this time, because there was so much misinformation floating around. Candie will need our help and support during her long recovery, but she has people with her now monitoring her care. Please keep her in your thoughts and prayers.

"Candie sustained serious injuries. She is in critical but stable condition and requires multiple surgeries. She has been alert and oriented and is the Candie we know, but will have a long path to recovery.

"We all want to help. The best thing we can do right now is to keep her in our thoughts and prayers. The hospital has restricted visitors.

"As she recovers, Candie will need our help and outreach. We will update you as she progresses and let you know how we can further help.

Beth Young"
